

Dear Spelt Member,

Assalam o Alaikum

December 03, 2019

We are happy to invite Dr. Pir Suhail Sarhindi to conduct a session on Lesson planning this month. Teachers and School heads will not miss this session as the trainer is expert in the field and participants always enjoy and appreciate his sessions. Attend this FREE session with your colleagues and spread the words.

Knowing 'HOW' of Planning a Lesson

The success of a lesson depends much on its planning. The main objective of an effective lesson focuses on developing students' cognition and motivating them to interact. Most of the lessons in our context focus on what we want to teach, and NOT how we teach. The 'HOW' is the most important aspect of teaching and planning. In this workshop, participants will explore some of the possibilities to plan effective lessons including using resources like technology and interactive activities. The participants will also identify the ways of how to keep students engaged with their teaching methods.

By the end of this session, the participants will be able to:

- Reflect on the approaches to lesson planning and the factors that inform the planning decisions.
- Identify appropriate teaching resources and assess their effectiveness.
- Create effective lesson plans that keep the students engaged.

Dr. Pir Suhail Sarhindi is an Assistant Professor at Iqra University, Karachi.
