1.5- Hour Webinar

Pre-Conference Institute(PCI)

39 Years of Empowering Teachers

ChatGPT, MidJourney, D-ID and other AI tools in English Language Teaching

TARGET AUDIENCE: All Teachers, Coordinators, Principals and Heads

This workshop provides an in-depth exploration of the current and future landscape of artificial intelligence (AI) applications in the field of English language instruction. This interactive workshop will begin with a swift review of relevant AI literature to establish a solid foundational understanding for participants. We will delve into the mechanics of ChatGPT, a powerful language model by OpenAI, and elucidate on the principles of machine learning. The spotlight will then be turned onto MidJourney, D-ID, Fotor, and other innovative AI tools, demonstrating their utility and versatility in designing real-world English Language Teaching (ELT) products. In addition to showcasing these tools in action, the workshop will critically evaluate the wider implications of AI for language teachers. We will address pressing questions such as: How can AI augment traditional language teaching methodologies? What are the potential challenges and ethical considerations when integrating AI in the classroom? This workshop is designed to be both educational and practical, offering insights into the burgeoning AI-ELT landscape and prompting a thoughtful discourse on AI ethics in education. Whether you are an ELT professional interested in integrating AI into your practice, or an AI enthusiast curious about its applications in language teaching, this workshop will equip you with the knowledge and insights to navigate this dynamic intersection of technology and education.
