

Inclusive, Engaged, Effective: Practical Classroom Strategies for Every Learner

Dr. Adeeba Ahmad

Senior Lecturer and Manager,
Curriculum & Research
Magna Carta College UK

Pakistani classrooms are diverse, different abilities, languages, home backgrounds, and learning speeds in one room. This 1-day hands-on training equips school teachers with low-resource, high-impact techniques they can use immediately, without extra budget or tech.

Teachers will learn how to manage mixed-ability classes, ask better questions, give feedback that motivates, and create a respectful, inclusive environment for all students including girls, students with disabilities, and multilingual learners. Leave with ready-to-use lesson ideas, checklists, and activities designed for the Pakistani curriculum and classroom realities.

Dr Ahmad's work focuses on language education and intercultural citizenship, with a strong interest in how classrooms can build global competence and inclusive learning. She designs curriculum and research initiatives that help teachers and students engage across cultures and languages.
