

Academic Session No: 414

April 15, 2019

Assalam o Alaikum

Dear Spelt Member,

After a full house session at Dr. Ziauddin Intermediate College this month we are meeting at Fajr Academy to learn about integrative language teaching approach. You may invite your ELT colleagues to join and meet the community in a two hour free Academic session. It is always a unique opportunity for non-members to attend SPELT's free sessions and learn about latest teaching practices to engage 21st century learners. SPELT Desk will also be available for all to renew memberships and know about Cambridge University course (ICELT) and other SPELT activities.

English Language Teaching Strategy; An integrative Model

In the diverse millennia of 21st century language teachers thrive to inculcate effective real-life language skills in their students. It is a fact that teachers can connect all four language skills with real life language practices in classroom language related activities. Although these four language skills can easily be taught in a single class but it is a common practice to do each skill in isolation. To make our learners better language users we need to use authentic material in our classroom activities.

An integrated approach to language learning could be a better strategy to teach language effectively and get the desired results. This Academic session will provide details of integrated approach of language teaching and participants will get a new baggage of language teaching pedagogy through activities and discussions.
