

Teaching Writing Skills

Writing gives voice to the thoughts of a writer. Writing is an essential skill that students learn at school. Students who gain confidence in writing at a school level get better educational and career opportunities in the future.

School teachers struggle to encourage learners to write and make them confident writers. This skill becomes easy for those who get interested in it. If the teachers engage students through engaging activities and regular practices, students will become habitual writers and quickly gain these skills.

The trainer will guide teachers in this Academic session to teach writing through fun activities and make it a regular class practice so that writing becomes natural to their students
